Advertise your volunteering opportunities

You can use this service if you want to:

- advertise your opportunities and receive applications through NHS Volunteering
- advertise your opportunities and link to application forms on existing systems

You can advertise either:

- one or more specific opportunities
- a generic listing for all your opportunities

We refer to 'specific opportunity' to describe an opportunity with a defined title, requirements and responsibilities.

A 'generic opportunity' is a broader listing that doesn't provide as much detail and it can include a range of opportunities.

The process

The information you enter will create a listing that potential volunteers will see when the search for an opportunity.

To advertise an opportunity, you will need to complete the following sections:

- 1. add a preview

This is what potential volunteers will see first when they search for opportunities.
- 2. fill in the listing

You will add:

 - a summary
 - the details of the type of person you are looking for
 - an overview of your application process
 - one or more locations, or select if this is a remote opportunity
 - the availability you need
 - the contact details where you want to receive queries about the opportunity
- 3. select the application settings

You can decide if you want to receive applications through this service or through an external link.

You can set a closing date for this listing.

Reviewing and making changes

You can save your progress and continue later.

Once you publish the listing, you can still change the closing date.
